

AQA Case Study

Cyber Essentials Implementer Training

Working in education, my team doesn't have any specialism in cyber security. We know how important our customer data is though and so I knew that achieving a baseline certification like Cyber Essentials was a must.

Secarma aren't just able to act as our certification body but their training team really stepped up and provided us with multiple modules of hands on training for my department. We felt truly confident taking on all the technical aspects of the standard by the time they had finished. We were able to gain the certification much more easily because of it.

Secarma's stand out skills are their collaborative approach and communication style. They met us where we were in terms of knowledge and took time to understand our challenges before delivering the training.

From providing foundational knowledge to validating our existing thinking they presented the material in a clear and digestible way.

We have worked with Secarma for a number of years now and their focus on the customer makes them very effective at keeping us safe online.

"From providing foundational knowledge to validating our existing thinking Secarma presented the material in a clear and digestible way."